

THE PIOCHE WEEKLY RECORD.

VOL XLVIII.

PIOCHE, NEVADA, THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1898

NO. 32.

The new railroad talk has the right ring to it. We have read much in the past of the proposed extension which was purely speculative and based on what would, or could, result when the work should be completed and promising that it would soon be done.

When it is known just where the rails are coming from, where the ties will be furnished, how they will be delivered and the names of the parties who will push the work, etc. the subject takes on a different aspect however, and justifies active preparation on the part of mine and claim owners throughout this section to put their properties in position to yield ore for shipment, and everything indicates they will have rail communication only thirty miles distant by New Year's. That the road will not stop at the Summit may be conceded, but in the opinion of many it will rest there for some time at least, as several important moves have not been touched upon, which are essential to the railroad before it is projected farther to the West.

A peculiar feature in the free coinage question has arisen in Oregon. Some months ago the Portland Oregonian offered a reward of $10,000 to any person who could prove that a cheaper dollar can be substituted for one of greater value in the payment of debts and wages without reducing the value of debts and wages in the same proportion that the value of the dollar is reduced. Sidney Dell, a free coinage advocate, answered the question in a very clear manner, and claims the reward. The Oregonian refused to pay, and Mr. Dell has brought suit to recover the $10,000, and has secured able counsel to prosecute the case. The authorities are uniform and unbroken that a public reward that has been coupled with a contract entitling to recovery. Of course should Mr. Dell win his suit, it will not decide the silver question but should the decision be in favor of the plaintiff it would substantiate the arguments of all free coinage advocates. The result of the trial will be eagerly looked for.

The action of the Bismark family in rejecting all friendly advances on the part of the Government at his death, has caused great anger in many parts of the empire. The dead prince evidently intended not to be known in connection with the present Emperor at all. He wrote his own epitaph, and it is to be used on his tomb—"A faithful German Servant of Emperor William First."

Registry books and supplies have been sent out and the registry agents have qualified in every precinct throughout the county save Temple Bar and Summit, both of which places are situated in the extreme southern part of the county on the Colorado. It is too early however to estimate with certainty, what the total vote of the county will be in November.

The Comstock mining companies are re-organizing in order to avoid an onerous taxation under the new revenue law, and are putting down their capitalization materially.

Yellow Jacket, Belcher, Confidence, Caledonia and Challenge Con. have been reduced from $100 to $33 per share, and the Con. Imperial to $1 per share.

The total number of shares in each company will remain the same.

The Elko Daily Argonaut has passed into the hands of C. M. Sain, formerly of the Gold Creek News and the Mountain City Times. Editor Sain will make a lively paper of the Argonaut for the next few months at least.

Was it a Flea?
What is honor? What is honor? shouted a preacher recently as one of the sisters of the congregation was leaving the church. "I don't know that it is any of your business, you brute, but if you want to know come down and see and don't stand up there howling like a calf" cried the exasperated woman.

Killed by a Wagon.

One of the worst accidents to be recorded in Nye county in a number of years happened at the Gooding ranch, on Reese river, last Monday in which Alex. Lavere, a stranger in this section, lost his life while driving a large load of hay across a little irrigating ditch. He was thrown to the ground, and the wagon ran over him lengthwise, crushing in all his ribs and breast and badly mashing his face and severing one of his ears from his head. His remains were frightfully mangled. He was buried in the cemetery at Lone the evening of the accident, it being impossible to keep the remains.—Austin Reveille.

At Panaca, yesterday morning, Mrs. Atchison, mother of William and George Atchison, died after a short illness. She was a woman of advanced years and may be said to have passed off quietly as the result of old age.

The assessment roll for the present year is nearly made up. The Board of Equalization will meet next month.

THE NEWSPAPER LAW.

All Subscribers Should Read the Following Law and Avoid Trouble.

1. All subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodical the publisher may continue to send it until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers refuse or neglect to take their periodicals from the office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. Subscriber moving to other places without informing the publisher, and the papers are sent to the former address, they are held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take periodicals from the office or removing and leaving them unclaimed, is prima facie evidence of intended fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice at the end of the time they do not wish to continue taking it, and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice with all arrearages are sent to the publisher.

7. The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest anyone for fraud who take a paper and refuses to pay for it.

Under the law the man who allows his subscription to run along some time unpaid, and then orders the postmaster to mark it "refused" and have a postal card sent notifying the publisher, leaves himself liable to arrest and fine, the same as for theft.

Notice.

The undersigned has been appointed agent of A. Mandich and all persons knowing themselves indebted to said A. Mandich will arrange to pay their claims to the undersigned and save costs.

TABBY ON PARADE.

Women in Brooklyn Who Take Pet Cats Out for Morning Constitutional.

The latest fad among Brooklyn women is to take tabby out for a daily constitutional. Various cats, accompanied by their mistresses or maids, and decorated with colored ribbons, were encountered by a stroller the other morning.

Not all were high bred angoras or maltese, either. On the contrary, they included some more closely resembling the ordinary wanderers that make night hideous with their fence-top melody. But all these Brooklyn paraders, whatever their birth and breeding, were evidently objects of pride for their guardians, says a New York exchange.

Two of the cats, meeting and passing on the same sidewalk, glared at each other as fiercely as would a couple of pet dogs under the same circumstances, putting up their backs ready for a spat. Their mistresses, of course, checked any such result. One animal was held in by a bright blue and yellow striped ribbon, and the other by an ordinary cord, and the owner of the former remarked to her companion that it was remarkable how well Fluffy could distinguish between cats of her own class and others. "She never offers to fight those as well dressed and well brought up as herself," she added.

COULD NOT BE RETURNED

Little Tommy Thought the Article in Question Had Been Used Too Long.

This is one of the yarns of childhood: Six-year-old Tommy was sent by his eldest sister to the corner grocery to buy a pound of lump sugar. He played all his way to the store, and by the time he arrived there he had forgotten what kind of sugar he was sent for. So he took home a pound of the granulated article. His eldest sister sent him back to the store to get lump sugar. After the proprietor of the grocery shop had made the change for the little lad he engaged Tommy in conversation.

"Tommy," said he, "I understand there is a new member of your family." "Yes, sir," replied the kid; "I've got a little brother." "Well, how do you like that, hey?" inquired the grocerman. "Don't like it at all," said Tommy; "rather have a little sister." "Then, why don't you change him, Tommy?" "Well, we would if we could; but I don't suppose we can. You see, we have used him four days now!"

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most for the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. R. to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advertised, to co-operate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free
